In Busiada village, Elugulu Ward, Busia County, George Mulamba has transformed his dairy goat farming venture with support from the State Department for Livestock's KeLCoP project.

Struggling with sick goats, poor feeding, and market challenges since 2019, his fortunes changed after receiving training and quality dairy goats through KeLCoP.

With improved skills and healthier livestock, his farm flourished, securing better markets and a steady income. Now a sought-after mentor, George plans to expand his herd to over 100 goats, showcasing the power of agricultural partnerships in transforming livelihoods and promoting sustainable farming.
